

All First-Class Mail To Go Soon By Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department announced plans Thursday to abandon its separate airmail service and transport all first-class letter mail by plane.

The new 6-cent rate for first-class postage will remain unchanged. Postmaster Gen. Lawrence F. O'Brien, in announcing the plan at a news conference, said the department already is carrying most letter mail by air, but only 10-cent air-mail stamp currently guarantees letters a place on the post office plans to ask Congress in 1969 to formally eliminate the airmail rate and create a new single-class priority service.

First-class mail accounts for 56 per cent of all letters. O'Brien said 40 per cent is going far enough to be eliminated. The remainder is needed for nearby points. The plan would virtually eliminate the railroads as carriers of first-class mail.

Smith Signs Redistricting Act Into Law

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Hulett C. Smith signed into law Thursday the congressional redistricting act passed by the West Virginia legislature last week in special session.

"We lead the nation in equality of voting rights," Smith said during the brief ceremony in his office.

The act will switch eight counties to new districts when it becomes effective April 5. It will apply in the May 14 primary election for U. S. House of Representatives candidates.

Smith called the special redistricting session after five Republicans filed suit, challenging the constitutionality of the present districts. The suit charged that because of widespread population disparity the bill did not conform to the supreme court's one man-one vote rule.

The act transfers Taylor and Lewis Counties from the 1st to 2nd District; Braxton, 1st to 3rd; Raleigh, 3rd to 5th; Tyler, 4th to 3rd, and Monroe, 5th to 2nd.

House Republicans defeated last week a motion to have the bill take immediate effect.

O'Brien said, however, that the railroads "will remain a vital link in our over-all transportation pattern, particularly in the movement of containers, parcel post and other bulk mail."

The post office expects to pay the railroads about $270 million this year for carrying mail, and O'Brien said this revenue would continue.

O'Brien said "very, very little" first-class mail currently is being handled by the railroads and "we have what closely approximates a total airlift service now."

The department expects to pay the airlines this year about $150 million for transporting mail. O'Brien said that although airmail revenue totals about $114 million he believes that a revenue loss which would result from eliminating the higher priced airmail service will be limited because of improved handling.

April Trial Set
In Murder Case

The murder trial of Kenneth Butler, 48, a former Weirton resident who was indicted in September by a Hancock County grand jury, was set for April 1 Thursday by Circuit Judge James G. McClure.

The action came during arraignment of those indicted Tuesday by the January grand jury.

Butler was indicted in the shooting death of Mrs. Linda K. Peck, 21, of Cove Rd., Weirton, as she stood on the front porch of her home July 23.

JUDGE McCCLURE granted a motion by the defense counsel, Atty. Leonard Alpert, that Butler be sent to the Wheeling Clinic for psychiatric examination.

Butler has been returned to the Hancock jail after spending three and a half months at Weston State Hospital for mental tests.

He was sent to the state institution after an attempt at suicide last October while he was lodged in the Hancock jail.

Butler has been confined to the Hancock jail pending arrangements for his transfer to the Wheeling Clinic.

PLEAS OF not guilty were entered:

Mrs. Betty Brown, 43, of New Cumberland, indicted for keeping and maintaining a house of prostitution.

Carol Shirley, 22, also of New Cumberland, engaging in prostitution.

Mrs. Gilbert Burton, 47, of Lexington, Ky., attempting to obtain drugs with a forged prescription at a Weirton pharmacy.

Judge McClure set Jan. 15 as the date for their trials.

Zoning Discussed
For New County
Airport Facility

Further details of zoning for the planned new Columbiana County Airport near Glenmoor were discussed at a meeting of the zoning committee Thursday night at the Courthouse at Lisbon.

Tom Moseure of Moseure & Fok, Youngstown engineers and consultants for the airport, met with the committee which includes Richard Mattern of Glenmoor, chairman; Robert Simms of Bell School Rd. and George Dunn of Madison Township.

County Commissioner James Boyd and County Airport Authority president Vincent LaNeve also attended.

Plans were made for a preliminary public hearing Feb. 6 at 7:30 p. m. at the Courthouse on the zoning plans. The committee is to meet shortly with Mattern to complete the details.

The airport is tentatively scheduled to have a main northeast - southwest runway, an east-west runway and a north-south runway. The main runway is to be zoned for 5,000 feet. Construction plans at present call for a 3,500-foot runway to be erected, with an additional 500 feet of approach.

charge of failure to display registration tags.

The judge convicted Emmer on the registration charge after hearing testimony from Garvey. But he deferred sentencing on both counts until Monday morning to await the outcome of the injuries of the hospitalized persons. Emmer's bond was set at $100.

Garvey said Emmer was not at the scene when officers arrived to investigate the crash, which was on the curve nearest the top of the grade. Emmer appeared at headquarters a short time later and identified himself as the driver of the northbound auto, the officer said.

OFFICERS also investigated a four-way crash blamed on a hit-and-run car in which no one was injured.

The crash at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts. was timed at 8:15 p.m. It involved the hit-skip car, a westbound 1964 two-door driven by Marilyn Lee Pugh, 21, of 213 E. 4th St. and two halted eastbound autos — the 1961 four-door sedan of Marion F. Wright, 60, of Box 184, Chester, and the 1964 four-door sedan of Joseph W. Bosworth, 19, of 166 Indiana Ave., Chester.

The Chester girl said she was driving west on E. 3rd St. when a car moving north on Walnut St. struck the left rear of her car and threw it out of control. The Pugh auto then crossed into the eastbound lane and hit the Wright and Bosworth cars, which were halted in the traffic lane, officers said.

Police were given a description and license number for the hit-skip car. But a check of the number, listed as X-1840, brought back the reply that there is "no such registration in Ohio," officers said.

The crash damaged the left rear and the front of the Pugh auto, the entire left side of the Wright car and the left front of the Bosworth auto.

ANOTHER hit-skip crash was reported Thursday at 10:10 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Mulberry St.

It damaged the rear of a 1968 model car operated by John W. Ball, 18, of 1562 Globe St.

Ball told police he washalted for a traffic light when his car was struck from the rear. The other driver alighted from his auto, then got behind the wheel again and drove away. Ball gave police a description of the other auto.

Updating The Ferguson Act

There again is talk in Columbus about the 20-year-old Ferguson Act again and whether it should be brought up to date. This is the law that presumably keeps public employees from striking.

New York State had the Condon-Wadlin Act, which was revised last year to bring it up to date, hence Ohio's interest in doing something about the Ferguson Act.

The Ohio Senate did do something last April, but its proposal was sidetracked in the House. It would have had the effect of excluding teachers and teacher organizations from the harsh terms of the Ferguson Act.

The oddity of this oft-referred-to law that hasn't worked is that few Ohioans understand why it hasn't worked. In an era when collective bargaining is commonplace the Ferguson Act slams the door on the ultimate recourse of all collective bargainers — the strike. But it slams it only on public employees and, moreover, slams it so hard its provisions scare off its enforcers.

122 More Years

This week's state commendation for the Columbiana County Agriculture Society's fair directors for capital improvements during 1967 is a tribute not only to the directors but to the continued public support of the annual August fete.

John Stackhouse, Ohio director of agriculture, declared at Columbus the state is the "Queen of Fairs," having more such events than any other.

The County Fair at Lisbon is among the successful ones in the state, offering entertainment, competition, exhibits and other attractions for rural and urban dweller.

Does State Have Responsibility?

The Ohio Crime Commission has thrown its support behind a Senate-approved bill to set up a state-level fund to subsidize police and sheriff's departments paying minimum salaries set by the state.

The bill presently is locked up in a House committee.

More and more state regulations on training and salary requirements place hardships on local communities. Consolidation of police and fire pension funds on a statewide basis has caused financial problems for communities across Ohio.

If the state is going to enforce salary requirements for law enforcement officers, it has to make sure sufficient funds are to be available. Too often, orders go out from Columbus that require the expenditure of city and county funds without a provision for collecting enough revenue to cover costs.

The state already subsidizes education — and it is costly. If the decision to extend subsidization to law enforcement stands fast — and there is a legitimate question about the state's propriety here — the state has to be ready to up the cost as the minimum is raised and more officers are hired in years to come.

The fight against crime must go on. We all support it. We also urge caution when the issue of subsidy is being dealt with.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I would like to personally thank the police officers, firemen and the neighbors around Moore St. for their help last Saturday night when my house burned.

If it were not for the intelligent way those men fought the blaze, it would have spread to nearby homes. There is less than three feet between my house and the next one, and the shingles on it were not even scorched.

I believe God surely must have been with those firemen and helped save those homes.

Although my home was totally destroyed, I am only thankful that there were no lives lost nor firemen hurt.

East Liverpool should stand up and take notice what a great fire chief, firemen and police officers they have. Thanks again for a job well done.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I write this letter because of the grave concern that grips my heart. There is a master plan, headed up by the Communist Party in Moscow, to overthrow our great Republic from within.

To do this they have many tactics. One is to demoralize the American people. Another is to tear down Christian convictions, by casting doubt and confusion on the Bible. And still another is to tear down patriotism. Their goal is to make the American people so lukewarm and confused, they are willing to accept anything under the guise of peaceful co-existence.

The Communist Party in America carries out headquarters plans. Lately their target is to persecute the flagwaver. One businessman in our community flew his flag daily. Suddenly he was haunted with phone calls to take it down. Now he doesn't fly his flag. Well, I am determined to fly my flag as long as I can buy one, and I encourage all to proudly display your flag daily.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

In this day and age when so many people seem to be thinking of themselves and will not help another person because they do not want to become involved, it was heart-warming to see how the neighbors on Moore St. helped our mother and father when they had to leave their home because of a fire next door. People offered to take them in, make room for their belongings and help carry their possessions to safety. We wish to thank all of them.

We also want to thank the firemen and police. They were all kind and courteous; and without their great effort, we know our parents' home would have been destroyed.

All In Favor Say 'Aye'?

VICTOR RIESEL

Labor Leader Of The Year

WASHINGTON — At 11 p.m. on a hot Wednesday night last summer the phone rang in the den of a newspaper columnist. It was the White House. At that end the man was angry, bitter, scornful, and incredulous. The caller asked the newsman what was the matter with that Roy Siemiller — we can't pin him down, he gives us nothing but trouble.

Respectfully the writer listened and agreed that when P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the International Assn. of Machinists and Aerospace Workers IAM, Victor Riesel led his million members, or any phalanx thereof, nothing and no one could pin him down, not even the President of the U.S.

It was an old feud. First Roy had shut down some key defense production plants, then five major airlines and, eventually, even the railroads for two days.

Furthermore, the President had a personal grievance going back to Luci Baines' summertime wedding in the sun-scorched National Shrine. Mr. Johnson had sought a huge air conditioner to cool off the church during those Washington dog days. Aides had located a big blower used to cut the heat in monster aircraft. But it was over at United Airlines. Trouble was the picket line.

United was one of five struck by the Machinists for 43 days. The President asked one of his ace labor advisors what to do. The reply was forget it — Roy Siemiller never would crack a picket line. The advice was taken. The guests sweltered. Two bridesmaids fainted.

MUCH LATER, when the six-foot, rough-cut, soft-spoken, ex-newsboy, ex-bowling pin boy, ex-messenger boy ex-roving machinist, now leader of the nation's second largest union, was asked how he could be that cruel to young love, he replied:

"They never approached me. I have no horns. That Lucy is a nice girl. Sure I'd have let the blower through. Hell, if they wanted one of those machines, I'd have carried it in piggyback myself. I would not louse up a young woman's wedding just because we machinists have been disenchanted with the President."

Actually Roy Siemiller's relations with the first family are good — with all but the father of the bride. Technically, Siemiller, whose tough leadership is softened only by his Herb Shriner-ish humor, is Lynda Bird's landlord when she is in her eighth floor office at IAM headquarters here at 1300 Connecticut Ave.

Last November he introduced her to the Executive Board of the huge 19,940-lodge union whose membership has rocketed to the million mark (and over) since he took office in July 1965.

Why is he disenchanted with Lyndon Johnson? Because Roy Siemiller is no labor statesman. He cares not whether he is deep in the inner circle. He disdains invitations to White House social affairs.

He is against government intervention in labor relations. He wants no compulsory arbitration because he believes that union chiefs and business executives can work out their own destinies so long as both sides deal squarely with each other.

He's so tough a strike leader that he has led, in a few years, more dramatic and significant national strikes than John Lewis and the coal diggers did in a decade.

But yet he and his machinists can boast that at the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. the IAM has struck but seven times in 30 years. It has called its men out only .2 per cent of two billion hours worked. It has signed 135 contracts with Lockheed without a single hour of work time being lost.

He's honest. He won't lie. He's for his men. He can make trouble. He has. But he can make industrial peace stick.

He's grass roots. This Horatio Alger of labor, born in Gothenberg, Neb., on the old Pony Express route, now has on his wall a montage of all the Mercury and Gemini Astronauts, signed by all of them.

"To Roy Siemiller," it says, "thanks for your help in the space program."

The big union's only honorary member is Col.

Edwin Aldrin, the nation's first space machinist who took the two-hour walk in the heavens' black voids.

The first income tax law in the U. S. was signed in July 1862 by President Abraham Lincoln — providing for a tax on the salaries and pay of officers and persons in the service of the U. S. This tax was repealed 10 years later. Another income tax law was passed in 1894, but was declared unconstitutional. It wasn't until 1913, when the 16th Amendment was adopted, that income taxes became a permanent part of our way of life.

An ancient engineering feat, almost as impressive as the Great Wall of China, was the Grand Canal of China. This canal, parts of which are still in use today, originally extended a distance of more than a thousand miles. The construction of the Grand Canal was begun before the time of Christ, and completed in about A. D. 1290.

One reason given for converting the world's telephone dialing systems to numbers is that letters cause trouble in overseas calls. The Danes have no "W" on their dial. English-speaking users associate the letter "O" with zero and the French dial includes "Q". Sweden and New Zealand have no letters at all on their telephone dials.

The term "baker's dozen" owes its origin to King Henry VII of England. He decreed that bakers who sold underweight loaves should be beheaded, and so, in order to save their necks, the bakers began adding an extra loaf to an order of 12 loaves.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Mid-East War?

Many people may have wondered why President Johnson spent two days at his ranch in Texas with Prime Minister Levi Eshkol of Israel, then issued a statement merely saying the United States has agreed "to keep Israel's military defense capability under active and sympathetic examination."

The joint statement also mentioned that the matter would be reviewed in the light of "all relevant factors, including the shipment of military equipment by others to the area." The same impression could have been conveyed through diplomatic communications made public.

Real reason for the meeting was to emphasize before the world that the United States may have to become involved in the Middle East if aggressive steps are taken by the Soviet Union to obtain a dominant position in the Mediterranean and surrounding areas.

MILITARY MEN are aware that Soviet strategic bombers visit Egypt from time to time and get target practice over the deserts.

There are 50 Soviet naval vessels in the Mediterranean, including a cruiser, two missile-carrying submarines, several patrol boats and other craft armed with anti-aircraft and short-range missiles.

The London Daily Telegraph, in an article a few days ago by its Cairo correspondent, said:

"While there is every appearance that the Russians intend to turn the Mediterranean into a second front of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, this is naturally strongly denied by Russian officers here. . . .

"There seems little doubt that the Russians are most anxious to be able to cut air communications in an emergency between the NATO powers in Europe and their allies in the Central Treaty Organization — Turkey, Persia and Pakistan — as well as those to the Far Eastern members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization."

The Middle East problem is not confined to Israel and the Arab countries. It has ramifications that could affect the peace of Europe.

Israelis want to buy from the United States jet fighter planes to maintain their military superiority and offset the planes and other armament being supplied by the Soviet Union to Egypt.

The joint statement issued will be construed as an indication that sooner or later fighter-bombers will be sold to the Israeli government.

Meanwhile, every effort will be made by the United States to exert pressure for a settlement of the dispute between Arabs and Israelis.

There are international repercussions outside the Middle East. Thus, for instance, the Suez Canal is still closed. This is having an impact on world trade.

President Johnson undoubtedly felt that when he invited the Israeli prime minister to his home for a two-day visit the Russians would infer that the United States is not indifferent to the military buildup by the Soviet Union in the Middle East.

THE UNITED Nations, of course, is supposed to be trying to make peace between Israel and the Arab countries, but sporadic fighting indicates there is not too much confidence as yet in the U.N.'s capacity to bring about a settlement.

Here is another example, as in Vietnam, of the role the Soviet government plays in the world.

It is helping to keep alive the passions of war, and it is influencing the United States decision to send military supplies to Israel. As long as the Moscow government, through its numerous subversive organizations in the Middle East, keeps sowing the seeds of war, the United States is not likely to remain aloof.

The same circumstances which brought American intervention in Vietnam may produce a similar result with respect to the Middle East.

No hint of this critical state of affairs can be derived from the President's statement following the visit of the prime minister of Israel.

But the Soviet government — by building up the military power of Arab countries — has presented a challenge to the West. The situation constitutes a threat not only to the peace of the Middle East but to Europe and America.

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Council President James Hall and a member of the firemen's pension board was honored at an oyster supper given by members of the fire department at the Central Station.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Ruth McKim was elected president of the newly-organized Auxiliary of the G. A. R. American Legion Post 121 of Chester.

Robert Coleman of W. 3rd St. reigned as "Casey Jones of 1948" in East Liverpool after his model engine won the 12th annual toy train derby.

H. A. Tullis was elected president of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: When I married Lou seven years ago, he weighed 150 pounds. The last time he told me what he weighed was three months ago. He admitted to 205. Lou is still in his 20s but he looks like 40.

At breakfast he's ready thinking about what he's going to have for lunch. After supper he sits and watches TV. Whenever a food commercial comes on, he has to have right then and there whatever they are advertising.

A large market in our neighborhood stays open evenings and I've lost count of the times Lou has left the house to go out and buy something he saw advertised.

Lou will not go to a doctor for a checkup because the last time he went the doctor gave him the dicker for overeating. Please tell me how I can help this man. I'm losing weight worrying about him. — FATE-SO'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: A man who has gained 55 pounds in seven years is in serious trouble. It's not what he is eating that is causing the problem, but what's eating him.

Lou must go back to his physician and learn if there is an organic problem. If that possibility is ruled out, he should see a head doctor. If he refuses to help himself, stop nagging and make sure his life insurance premiums are paid on time.

Homework, Inc.

Dear Ann: You have taken up the cudgel for numerous abused and maligned segments of society. Now will you please say a kind word for those of us who are trying to earn a living as travel agents?

Every school boy and girl at some time or another is given the assignment of doing a complete research job on a foreign country.

Instead of looking up the information at the library or checking an encyclopedia, the little darlings write to a travel-agency, request color brochures plus answers to dozens of questions.

It's virtually impossible to respond to their questions and send brochures to every kid who writes. If we did we'd have time for nothing else.

I've received several telephone calls from irate parents who scream, "Why didn't you answer Johnny's letter?" He was counting on you to help him with his geography assignment.

When I explain we could not stay in business if we spent all our time helping kids with their homework, the parents get mad and we have made an enemy.

Some parents, to get back at us, pretend they are potential customers. They ask us to plan a long and complicated trip. After we have typed dozens of letters to Europe or Asia, contacted airlines and hotels and reserved space on two continents, they cancel the "trip" and we never hear from them again.

Please, Ann, print this letter so teachers and parents and students can see our side of it. — POINT OF NO RETURN.

Dear Point: I checked with several travel agencies and the general feeling is this: "We like to have kids come in and pick up our brochures, but we can't take the time to research their questions nor can we fill their requests by mail."

So, here you have it, kids. Go in person to the travel agencies if you want the brochures, then haul your freight to the public library, drag out those wonderful encyclopedias and do your homework.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Coroner's Ruling Due In Death Of Girl, 13

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Starke County Coroner Dr. G. S. Shaheen will rule in the death of a 13-year-old girl who was shot to death Thursday night at her home.

Wynella Curry died of a bullet wound in the chest. Police Capt. Paul Higgins said one person has been taken into custody for questioning.

The production of electricity in economical quantities, as exemplified by the giant 1,080,000-kilowatt Fort Martin power station, is trending toward bigger and bigger plants. Monongahela Power joined with three other companies to build Fort Martin. Fort Martin continues under construction with its second unit schedule for completion in October.

Now under way is an even larger station, down the Monongahela River from Fort Martin, near Masontown, Pa. This is the Hatfield's Ferry Station scheduled to produce 1,620,000 kilowatts. It is being built in partnership with the other two operating companies of the Allegheny Power System.

One of the "smaller items" in the three-year forecast, amounting to $8,500,000, will provide new customer and service facilities. This includes construction of several division and district service and maintenance centers.

Listed for new offices, line shops, storeroom, or division service and maintenance centers are Weirton, Fairmont, Spencer, Belington, Morgantown, Elkins, and Clarksburg.

New facilities in Monongahela's improvement program were completed last year at Weston, and Oakland, Md., and were started at Sistersville. Several other properties were remodeled.

Other improvements scheduled for 1969 and 1970 include increased precipitator capacity for the Albright power station near Kingwood and Willow Island power station near St. Marys.

In announcing the utility's three-year construction forecast, Cecil G. McVay, president of Monongahela Power, pointed out that demand for electricity continues to increase at a rate of about 8 per cent per year.

THIS RATE of increase, McVay said, is expected to accelerate in 1969 and 1970 due to the growing use of electricity for space heating and due to an expansion of industry as the interstate highway system becomes increasingly available.

The major portion of the $100 million will be spent for generating capacity to provide the additional power needed in the years to come. Monongahela Power has estimated its expenditures for power generation in the three-year period will amount to nearly $50 million.

Wellsville At Oak Glen Heads 21-Game Weekend Slate

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

THROUGH A scheduling coincidence, I had the opportunity to see three of Midland's Vanlier brothers play basketball within two days this week.

Tuesday night Tommy Vanlier scored 18 points, but the Midland JVs lost to the Hopewell 55-50. Then in the varsity game Dave Vanlier got 22 points, but Midland lost to Hopewell 55-51. The Wednesday night I saw Norm Vanlier play for St. Francis against Steubenville College at Steubenville. He didn't score as many as his brothers, but the result was much happier. St. Francis won 77-73, as Norm netted 17, just under his 17.4 average.

Nevertheless, the Frankies were not too impressive in squeezing by the freshmen-laden Barons. It was hard to believe that this was the same team that had reached the finals of the prestigious Quaker City Tourney. Wednesday night's game was their first since the tournament, however, so possibly the layoff affected their play. The worst showing was on defense where Steubenville, which didn't look too impressive itself, got numerous uncontested shots.

I HAPPENED TO be sitting next to a girl who was rooting vociferously for St. Francis. She turned out to be Jane Davis of Midland, sophomore at the Loretto, Pa. school. She reported that St. Francis expected a good deal from Vanlier, and is booming him as an All-American candidate. Norm is certainly a fine ballplayer, but this is a little too much. He plays like an All-American in Philadelphia, however, where he made the all-tournament team this season and was named most valuable visitor to the Palestra last year.

Jane noted that the Red Flashes are hoping to go to the NIT, a tourney they just missed last year with a 20-6 mark. The Frankies are 7-3 so far, and Jane mentioned St. Josephs, unbeaten St. Peters and a west coast trip as big hurdle, but she astutely pointed out that losses at Steubenville and Geneva last year were the ones that killed St. Francis' NIT aspirations. So Frankie fans were glad to win at Steubenville, even if the game was far from a classic.

BEAVER LOCAL, East Palestine, Poland and Salem, along with teams from Youngstown and the Steel Valley Conference, will play in the state AA regionals at Youngstown South Field House. Dates of the regionals there are Feb. 23, 24, 28 and 29 and March 1-2. Four teams will be seeded in the 14-team field, and the other 10 teams will be listed in the tourney draw, with the four teams then getting their pick of bracket. Two teams will get first round byes.

In the regional at Steubenville, with only seven teams, the top-seeded team draws the first round bye. East Liverpool, Wellsville, Toronto, Steubenville, Steubenville Central, Wintersville and Springfield compete in that one.

WILLIAM ECKERT, commissioner of baseball, in an article in The Sporting News, reported on progress of baseball in 1967. His observations were mostly platitudes, since baseball regressed in 1967. Allowing Charley Finley to steal the Kansas City franchise confirmed the suspicion that baseball's owners are only interested in money, and care nothing for the feelings of the fans. Eckert, of course, is only a puppet of the owners.

One area in which baseball improved, however, was minor league attendance. The minors drew 10,087,152 fans in 1967, an increase of 25,900 over 1966. Mexico City, in the Mexican League, averaged 7,560 fans a game and had a season's total of 536,743, approaching some major league clubs. Rochester had the best mark among American teams, with a 5,144 average.

But bad news on the minor league level was the folding of the Toronto franchise, which was switched to Louisville. Ironically, Ferguson Jenkins of the Cubs was named Ontario's top athlete of 1967, surpassing all members of the NHL Stanley Cup winning Toronto Maple Leafs. Jenkins, a native of Ontario, was earlier named Canada's athlete of the year, surpassing all purveyors of Canada's national sport, ice hockey.

BUD MANES brought his Thiel basketball team into Ohio Wednesday night, and it lost 74-59 to Malone at Canton. Joe Massey of East Liverpool scored four.

RON WILLIAMS of West Virginia is leading the Southern Conference in scoring with a 23-2 average. He is second in free throw shooting with 50 of 57. Carey Bailey is fourth in rebounding with an average of 10.1 a game.

Ewing Kauffman Gets KC Baseball Franchise

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ewing Kauffman, Kansas City's new baseball owner, already has a timetable for his club—a board of directors within a week, an executive vice president not long after, a first division club in five years and an American League pennant in eight years.

It's the sort of ambitious plan you would expect from the man who last year received the Horatio Alger Award. He started his $130 million drug firm 18 years ago. The league's owners put the city's 1969 expansion franchise in his hand before Thursday.

Kauffman said he has talked to "three or four top men who want to be executive vice president of the club."

"They all want the job, they are all excellent men and I'm certain the board, the public and I will like the board's choice," Kauffman said. "This will be as far a I'll go. Then it will be up to baseball men. I believe in giving my executives complete authority."

The next step will be setting up a top-flight organization, he said.

Kauffman made it clear the club would stay in Kansas City during his lifetime and said "me estate is legally bound to sell the club to Kansas City interests."

He is the city's first home-based owner. Charles O. Finley's A's moved to Oakland for 1968.

Michigan State and St. Louis are the 1967 NCAA co-champions in soccer.

Beaver Local Home 2 Nights

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Area basketball action reaches a new high this weekend, with 21 games scheduled, including East Liverpool at Steubenville tonight and Youngstown South at East Liverpool tomorrow.

Wellsville and Oak Glen collide on the Golden Bears' floor tonight, and the Tigers return home to meet Salem tomorrow. Midland travels to New Brighton as Section 6 play continues, and Beaver Local is home both tonight and tomorrow.

Wellsville and Oak Glen have identical 4-5 records. The two teams meet again at Wellsville, Jan. 30. Last year Oak Glen won both meetings, 53-46 and 66-54. This year Bob Starkey has added height in 6-7 Perry (Biff) Stanley, who has had good games and bad games. Top scorers for the West Virginia club are Dan Crago at 15.1 and Jim Carnes at 14.1. Bob Dawson's quint is paced by Jerry Wyse, hitting 14.8, and Tom McClain, averaging 13.7.

Salem, which hosts Warren Harding Friday night in a Big 8 game, is bolstered by the return of 6-5 Rick Liber, who had been out with mononucleosis. Other starters for John Cabas' Quakers, 4-6, are 6-3 Mark Equizzi, 6-2 Dana Barnes, 5-8 Scott Cody and 5-7 George Spack. Spack has hit 20 straight free throws.

Midland is 5-6, 2-1 in section play, while New Brighton is just the reverse, 6-5, 1-2 in league play. But the Lions gave powerful Monaca a scare before bowing 59-57 Tuesday night. Their other losses were to Hopewell, which edged the Leopards 55-51 Tuesday, and New Castle, Farrell and Ambridge, contenders in powerful Section 3. The Lions beat Beaver Falls of Section 3 and topped Seneca Valley in league play.

BILL TAYLOR at New Brighton, like Ed Olkowski at Midland, doesn't have a lot of height on his team. No starter is over six feet, but the Lions are fast. Moses Perkins, Ron (Po) James, and Jeff Irwin are all 6-0, while Tom Lott and Fred Howard go 5-10. Dave Vanlier has upped his average for the Leopards to 19.4 and Howard Leek is at 11.5.

Beaver Local, 8-1, hosts Toronto and Jefferson Union, both 3-5, in a pair of Buckeye Border Conference contests. The Red Knights, coached by former Beaver Local mentor John Pape, have won their last two, topping Wellsville and Southern Local. They are 2-3 in league play. A backcourt of Paul Kalivoda and Bill Fisher sparks Toronto, while Bob Price, Mike Dilly and Nick Lukasena round out the starting line-up.

Robert (Rabbit) Harris and Ron Pytash lead Carl Firms' Yellowjackets. Rex Campbell is the high scorer for Lloyd Stockdale's Beavers, hitting 16-0. Jim Reese is at 14.0, Mike Piatt at 13.4 and Dave Mason 13.2.

IN OTHER GAMES Friday night, Poland and East Palestine collide at East Palestine for the Tri-County League lead. Both are 3-0 in the league, EP is 6-1 overall and Poland 6-2 on the year. Jack Swinderman's team boasts the area's leading scorer in Dan McKinstry, at 23.3, but also have Bill Lewis at 12.0, Joe Lewis at 11.9, and Jim Taucher at 11.0. McKinstry and Taucher suffered ankle injuries.

Tri-County action continues Saturday night with Lisbon at Poland, Minerva at Columbiana and Sebring at Leetonia. Sebring is 3-4, but 0-3 in league play. Other games Saturday show Lordstown at Crestview and Southern Local at Springfield for a Buckeye Border Conference game. The Flying Tigers, 7-1, won an earlier match 77-56. Ken Gordon and Jack McConaughay lead their attack.

Stanton hosts Smithfield. The Red Raiders are 2-7, with Randy Frampton netting 16.0, Dave Olesky 14.7, Cliff Slusher 12.4 and Bill Koehlein 12.3 for Dave Murray's outfit.

NEW YORK (AP) — It's not that John Pont minds having led a team that made him the college football Coach of the Year, you understand, but when he thinks about how the 1968 Indiana team shapes up, he figures the glory could cause a few problems.

"For one thing," Pont said Thursday at the luncheon where the American Football Coaches Association award was announced, "we'll lose the element of surprise. And the team won't have the same character. It'll have a character, but not the same one."

Elaborating on his element-of-surprise theory, Pont, whose team turned around from a 1-8-1 mark in 1966 to 9-1 during the regular season just completed, pointed to the only blemish on the record—a 33-7 loss to Minnesota.

"Every game before that one," he said, "people were waiting for us to get knocked off and we could prepare ourselves just for the game we were playing."

"But before the Minnesota game, everyone was talking Rose Bowl and there was no way to convince the team I wasn't thinking of it too. Besides that, Minnesota was a good football team."

The Tigers were led by Jeff McGraw, who had 16, and he and Robert McGraw were tough on the boards. The Tigers are idle until Jan. 22, when they host Toronto.

JACK IN TROUBLE. Jack Nicklaus, defending champion of the Crosby Tournament, chips out of the rough enroute to a bogey five at Cypress Point yesterday. Nicklaus recovered to shoot a 71 for the day. (UPI Telephoto)

Graham Leads Crosby, Palmer Starts Poorly

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)

— Some of the pros were rusty swinging into Bing Crosby's 1968

golf campaign opener while others were surprised they weren't.

Lou Graham of Nashville, Tenn., where it snowed over the holidays, belonged to the latter group. He fired a 68 clipping four strokes off par in Thursday's first round to grab the lead.

Arnold Palmer whose card included a double bogey and two bogeys on three consecutive holes belonged to the rusty contingent. "I haven't played competitive golf for two months," Palmer said. "Just getting started is half the battle. I'm not swinging all that well or putting either."

Jack Nicklaus wound up

among the leaders with a 71 and would have been better if he hadn't hit a ball down a rocky embankment on the over-the-ocean 16th hole at Cypress Point and taken a penalty stroke.

As the players switched courses for today's second round of the $104,500 tournament, Dave Hill and Tommy Jacobs were just a stroke behind at 69.

John Pott stood at 70 and with New York City amateur Virgil Sherrill led the pro-amateur division with a best ball 59. Sherrill's 15-stroke handicap proved a big help.

In the Crosby, each of the 168 pros is teamed with an amateur and each group plays a different course on Thursday, today and Saturday.

GLENMOOR, East End Triumph

The Little Potters basketball league, sponsored by the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, got underway at Westgate last night.

In the sixth and seventh grade division, Glenmoor beat Downtown 24-19 and East End topped North Side 13-8. G. Cunningham and P. Moffett scored seven each for Glenmoor, Hanlon netted 15 for Downtown and Lehman had six for East End.

In the eighth grade games, Glenmoor topped Downtown 16-12 and East End downed North Side 18-11. Tipton had 11 for Glenmoor and Connell 10 for Downtown. Banfield and Natahina scored five each for East End and Carter six for North Side.

Art Thomas and Jim Eckstein refereed the contests.

Wellsville, Southern Split Cage Contests

Wellsville and Southern Local split a pair of games at Wellsville yesterday, the Tigers taking the eighth grade contest 52-30 and the Indians the seventh grade game 34-28.

Bill Carter scored 18 for Wellsville and Jim Randolph 19 for Southern in the eighth grade game. Wellsville is unbeaten in five games and doesn't play again until Jan. 25, when Beaver Local visits. Southern is 4-3.

Southern ran its seventh grade record to 6-1 as Steve Lockhart led with 14. Dave Carter netted 17 in a losing cause. Wellsville is 2-2 in seventh grade action.

Montreal Icers Unbeaten In Last Eight Contests

By The Associated Press

The Flying Frenchmen finally have hit their stride—and it's Allez-Oop for Montreal in the National Hockey League chase.

Jean-Claude Tremblay, Yvan

Cournoyer and Jacques Lemaire scored Montreal goals less than 3½ minutes apart

Thursday night, pacing the Canadiens to a 4-2 triumph over

Philadelphia.

The victory extended the Canadiens' unbeaten streak to eight games and sent them into third place in the NHL's East Division race. Mired in the division cellar two weeks ago,

they have won six—including their last four in a row—and tied two to climb within five points of front-running Chicago.

Elsewhere Thursday night,

second place Boston edged Detroit 5-4 on rookie Derek Sanderson's third period goal to move within two points of the idle Black Hawks in the East and St. Louis played Los Angeles to a 2-2 West Division deadlock.

The Canadiens spotted Philadelphia's West Division leaders a 1-0 first period lead before defenseman Tremblay tied the game with a 60-foot drive in the middle session. Cournoyer broke the tie one minute and 29

seconds later and rookie Lemire followed with another

Montreal score.

Joe Watson scored for the Flyers in the third period but

Giles Tremblay added an insurance goal for the Canadiens with 3:22 remaining.

The Flyers, who started their initial NHL season with four victories in six games against

East Division clubs, now have lost seven in a row to the Establishment.

Sanderson scored his 14th goal in a breakthrough midway in the final period, lifting Boston past the Red Wings, who had tied it

4-4 earlier in the period when

Norm Ullman drilled his second goal of the game and Gordie

Esposito connected 67 later. Phil

Esposito scored twice for the Bruins.

St. Louis goalie Seth Martin and his Los Angeles counterpart, Terry Sawchuk, dueled through 40 scoreless minutes after late first period goals by Red Berenson and Frank St.

Marselle overcame a 2-0 LA

lead.

Howie Hughes and Bill Flett

scoffed for the Kings, who snapped an eight-game losing string and now share second place in the West with Minnesota—six points back of Philadelphia.

Freshman Participation Immediate

NEW YORK (AP) — The rule permitting freshmen to play on varsity teams in all sports except football and basketball — which caused some confusion when first announced — has now been clarified by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The rule was passed at the NCAA convention here Wednesday, but the policy-making council, in an attempt to clear up some questions that had been raised, took up the matter again

Thursday.

Basically, the freshman participation rule takes effect immediately and is not retroactive, the council said.

Thus, this year's freshman class may participate in intercollegiate events on varsity teams and in NCAA championship events for four years.

Students who are now upper classmen and who participated in championship varsity events as freshmen may only take part in three NCAA championship

meets.

Another problem is that many major conferences have their own rules forbidding freshman participation. These include the 171-member Eastern Collegiate

Athletic Conference, the Big Ten and the Pacific 8.

They all indicated they would stick to their present rules, but might be forced to change if placed in a recruiting disadvantage.

Junior Editors Quiz on VACUUM CLEANERS

QUESTION: How does a vacuum cleaner make a vacuum?

ANSWER: The Latin word vacuus means empty. From this we have our word vacuum, which is a space without matter in it. It's difficult or impossible to create a perfect vacuum, but most of the air may be removed from a closed space by sucking it out with a pump or by other means. When this is done, the pressure of the outside air makes air or fluid rush in to take the place of that which has been sucked out. There is a little electric motor inside a vacuum cleaner (1) which operates a fan. This sucks the air up through the body of the cleaner. New air rushes in to fill the partial vacuum created. There is a bag (2) inside the cleaner, made of cloth or paper. The air can pass through the sides of the bag, but the bag traps the dirt or dust, which cannot pass through the paper or cloth. The suction effect of the cleaner works all the way down through the hose and pipe to the attachment at the end (3). Air, carrying dirt and dust, is sucked up and passes into the bag inside the cleaner. The dust is trapped in the bag, while the air passes through the sides of the bag and goes out the cleaner's other end.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: When eating of drawers sticking because of out at a drive-in — especially if you have a batch of children — don't all order hamburgers or tuna fish sandwiches. Mix them up a little!

Last weekend we did this. I ordered tuna fish, my daughter got roast beef and my husband a hamburger. We asked that they either cut them in half or bring us a knife to cut them with.

Then we each had half a tuna sandwich and half a hamburger or roast beef. They do say that variety is the spice of life, you know!

Now, as another little afterthought, if you wrap your oldest paring knife in a paper napkin and keep it in your glove compartment, you can cut your own sandwiches anytime. Either in halves or fourths. And just think, if there are more than three in the family, it will really be like eating from a party plate.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: I made a little bag out of gauze, put some paste wax in it and keep it in a jar.

Anytime there's a drawer or door that sticks, I just rub it with this wax bag.

I like it better than soap because it doesn't crumble, and wax helps seal out the dampness which is usually the cause

DEAR HELOISE: When we have TV dinners, I save the aluminum foil from the top of the trays, wash it and use it to wrap my baking potatoes.

ZULA EVANS.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a good use for those junior-size baby food jars.

I keep all my mending supplies in one: Such as small assortments of color spools of mending thread, needles, a pair of small scissors, and a little square of felt for pins.

I also use this same baby food jar as my darning egg! Because I'm the mother of three small children, I have to keep one step ahead of them. This way I have all my sewing supplies inside my improvised darning egg with the top screwed on too tight for them to open.

JUDY COTTRELL.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever have green peppers "fall apart at the seams" when you were cleaning them for stuffing?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: In an emergency when your windshield is covered with ice, a plastic pocket comb will remove the ice almost as well as a windshield scraper.

Neat, eh?

Medicare And Social Security-No. 9

Up And Up They'll Go!

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Social Security, a mammoth enterprise already, will begin to take on truly staggering proportions in a bit more than three decades — in the year 2000.

Presently there are just under 24 million Americans drawing retirement, survivor's, or disability benefits — not to mention the added protection most of these are getting under Medicare.

Official estimates for the number likely to be drawing payments in 2000 range from 37 million to 42 million.

If that does not seem a large rise, consider the outlook for 2025, when the number of benefit recipients is estimated to range from 53.7 million to 59.6 million.

SO, WHEN one talks of "future coverage" in Social Security, what is involved is simply a steady enlargement of numbers of people in categories already covered.

There are today no significant groups of Americans not covered by Social Security or by other social insurance plans under civil service and railroad retirement.

The enlargement of numbers is a consequence of several factors — basic population growth, a soaring total of aged persons in absolute terms though not significantly in percentage of the overall population, advances in medicine and diet which are keeping people alive longer and longer and hence on Social Security rolls longer.

POPULATION age trends evidently have swung through several cycles. For a time two decades or more ago, it seemed accurate and was quite fashionable to say that the American population was, proportionately, aging fast.

Not only neat, but clean and quick, too.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For sending candy and cookies to relatives or friends overseas, I used a small styrofoam ice bucket. I packed the ice bucket full of candies and candy. Then sealed it shut with masking tape and wrapped it.

It arrived in good condition. The candy didn't melt and the cookies didn't break. The ice bucket can be used for many things after the goodies are gone.

Doesn't weigh much either since it's foam, so saves on postage, too.

MRS. D. W.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have trouble with clothes slipping off a wire hanger, crochet around the hanger using a chain stitch.

You can match up room colors by using colored cord and putting a bow on the hanger.

These look nice and work fine for me.

BLANCHE GODLEY.

I'll bet they would really sell at bazaars too. And wouldn't little Girl Scouts have a ball making 'em?

2 Plan Stronger Proposal To Ban Milk Control Group

By WILLIAM E. DEIBLER

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two sponsors of a rejected proposal to abolish the State Milk Control Commission say they will introduce a stronger plan when the Constitutional Convention resumes deliberations next week.

The sponsors, delegates Henry P. Otto of Pittsburgh and Richard L. Huggins of McKeesport, withdrew Thursday their appeal on a ruling that their original proposal failed to come within the Convention's limited scope.

Later, however, they said they had not given up the battle to eliminate retail price controls on milk in Pennsylvania.

"We intend to introduce a stronger amended proposal that should be acceptable to the chair," Otto said. "This proposal will be presented next week, hopefully, following the advice of counsel."

At least 82 delegates would have to approve the submission of a new proposal, however, since Thursday was the deadline for the introduction of proposals from the floor. The deadline can be lifted by a majority vote.

Three additional proposals were placed before the Convention Thursday, bringing the total submitted since Dec. 1 to 210.

The Convention's standing committees have until Feb. 2 to complete their studies of the proposals and recommend a package to the floor for action. There were indications, however, that most committees would beat the deadline.

Trustees said they hope the action this week will help avert any possible demonstrations such as those which forced the temporary closing of Central State University last November.

The Committee on Taxation and State Finance, for example, announced Thursday that it will report to the floor next week a reform package on tax exemptions.

— Retain exemptions granted to places of religious worship, private forest preserves and certain veterans' organizations.

— Restrict exemptions to non-profit cemeteries.

The committee has not yet decided what to do about the real estate tax exemptions now granted to public utilities.

A final vote is to be taken on the package Monday, and it will be reported to the floor for action on Wednesday.

Speaker Dispels Hypnosis Myths

LISBON — Dr. John G. Gard of Beaver Falls, chief psychologist at the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic on E. Lincoln Way, dispelled several myths about hypnosis at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday in the Eagles home.

"No one becomes stuck in hypnosis," he said, "and the practice of it by non-professionals is actually harmless no matter what you hear to the contrary."

Dr. Gard discussed hypnosis as a useful tool in therapy. He said most people have experienced mild hypnosis while watching an absorbing movie or driving a car on long trips.

A hypnotized person cannot be induced to do something he would not do ordinarily, Dr. Gard said. He was introduced by Donald Roberts, the mental clinic director and Kiwanis program chairman for January.
